

Oilseeds: World Markets and Trade

Total Consumption of Sunflowerseed Oil and Meal

Argentina, Russia and the Ukraine together produce about 45 percent of the world's sunflowerseed. To a lesser extent, sunseeds are also produced in China, India, France and the United States. Consumption of sunflowerseed oil and meal is dominated by the E.U., followed by Russia, Eastern Europe and India. Total world consumption of sunflowerseed oil and meal peaked in the late 1990's, and has been trending lower over the last several years. However, this year's dramatic increase in production in Russia and Ukraine pushed consumption of sunflowerseed oil and meal in these countries up 23 percent and 19 percent, respectively. The greater availability globally of sunflowerseed has lowered the world price premium for sunflowerseed oil versus other edible oils. This has prompted the E.U. to increase imports 15 percent at a time when their sunseed production is expected to drop 9 percent. World consumption of sunflowerseed oil and meal is forecast to rise 9 percent and reach 17.8 million metric tons in 2002/2003.

Situation and Outlook

Global oilseed exports for 2002/03 are projected at a record 74.3 million tons, up 958,000 tons over last month's estimate due to an 839,000-ton increase in soybean exports and minor increases in exports of sunflowerseed and rapeseed. Global trade of protein meal is estimated at 62.9 million tons, only slightly higher than last month's estimate due to a 98,000-ton increase in soybean meal exports. Likewise, the estimate for 2002/03 global vegetable oil trade increased this month due to increases in projected exports of soybean oil and coconut oil.

The changes to trade in the soy complex stem mainly from a 1.5 million ton increase in Argentina's soybean production. As a result of this increase, Argentina's projected soybean exports increased 400,000 tons over last month's estimate to 9.7 million tons, its soybean meal exports increased 540,000 tons to 18.7 million tons, and its soybean oil exports increased 140,000 tons to 4.38 million tons. The estimate for U.S. soybean exports was also raised this month to 26.1 million tons due to the rapid export pace so far this year. Finally, China's projected soybean imports were raised one million tons this month to 16.0 million tons.

Other changes this month include increases in rapeseed exports by the United States (75,000 tons), the European Union (50,000 tons) and the Former Soviet Union (15,000 tons). The increase in rapeseed exports is balanced by a 200,000-ton increase in Pakistan's projected rapeseed imports. Also, estimated coconut oil exports are up 100,000 tons for the Philippines and 50,000 tons for Malaysia, bringing global coconut oil exports to nearly 2 million tons.

The U.S. season-average price for soybeans is projected at $5.20 to $5.60 per bushel, a narrowing of the range by $0.20 from last month. The soybean meal price is up slightly over last month at $165 to $180 per short ton, and the U.S. soybean oil price remains unchanged at 20.50 to 23.00 cents per pound.

Notes on World Supply/Demand Tables

- 1) Trade, crush, consumption, and stocks data are aggregated using individual marketing years with the exception of Argentina and Brazil. These two countries are converted to an October-September basis. Marketing years for countries in the Northern Hemisphere begin in the first year shown. Those in the Southern Hemisphere begin in the second year.
- 2) World imports and exports will not balance. This is due to differences in marketing years and time lags between exportation and importation.
- 3) Stocks data are not estimated for all countries.
- 4) Price averages are dollars per bushel for soybeans, dollars per short ton for soybean meal and cents per pound for soybean oil.
